

NextGen for Correctional Health

You Are Here.

Care quality is threatened—and workflow is made more complicated—by chart fragmentation issues and inmate transportation scheduling challenges. Adequately supporting nurse protocols and proactively monitoring health maintenance/disease management is an ongoing hassle. Without the right documentation and reporting, obtaining sufficient funding is difficult. Controlling costs in the face of high staff turnover adds complexity. Maintaining compliance with ever-changing guidelines is a continuing problem. Staying up to date regarding the latest technology advances in patient care strains resources.

You Could Be Here.

Destination — Future-Focused Correctional Healthcare Environment
Creating complete health records to standardize healthcare throughout your environment. Enabling multiple users to simultaneously access patient data with increased speed and accuracy. Simplifying move lists and cutting transportation costs. Facilitating funding acquisition and mitigating risk. Gaining continuity of care through interfaces with offender management, pharmacies, and lab systems—and increasing care quality through automated tools. Pulling any report quickly and easily. Meeting—and exceeding—industry standards.

So How Do You Get There?

NextGen — Empowering Correctional Health with Fully Integrated Technology

NextGen® Ambulatory EHR (electronic health records) software offers built-in content with functionality and workflow developed specifically for the correctional healthcare environment. From intake through release planning, NextGen Ambulatory EHR directly addresses the nuances of providing healthcare in prisons and jails.

NextGen Benefits for Correctional Health

- Gain better patient care through correctional health-specific functionality
- Decrease costs and increase funding opportunities via automated data collection and user-friendly reporting tools
- Reduce risk by meeting—or exceeding—industry standards, improving overall documentation, and solving transportation challenges
- Gain ongoing support from an award-winning team of industry experts and a Specialty Director dedicated to serving the needs and interests of correctional healthcare

Gain Better Patient Care Through Correctional Health-Specific Functionality

- Access corrections-specific content—NextGen® software delivers tools, templates, and workflow specific to each specialty's needs—including dental and behavioral health templates and education materials
- Helps reduce chart fragmentation—NextGen® software enables multiple users to simultaneously access and document medical data in one patient's chart—even during and after transfers. By using inmate ID numbers, NextGen® software ends confusion and duplications
- Support nurse protocols—Our protocols feature branch logic to assist in handling issues quickly and efficiently while promoting standardization of healthcare delivery
- Document sick call visits easily—Quickly document/schedule sick call visits by generating consolidated call-out lists for corrections officers, providing nurse protocols for use during sick call encounters, enabling data entry/scanning of sick call slips, and automating grievance handling
- Act on lab results intelligently—Maintain a cohesive chart and accurately match lab results back to patients using NextGen® software's automated workflow and electronic lab result acquisition/documentation (using HL7 specifications) and automatically notify staff of completed results
- Help foster proactive health maintenance and disease management—Utilize NextGen Healthcare disease management and health maintenance functionality to proactively monitor and treat patients, and help ensure adherence to existing national guidelines for treatment, while also promoting standardization of healthcare delivery
- Execute efficient release planning—Help ensure continuity of care after a patient's release by efficiently communicating health information to outside providers

Decrease Costs and Increase Funding Opportunities

- Benefit from a proven return on investment—Reduce healthcare costs, avoid unnecessary litigation fees, and help retain staff by improving efficiencies—especially those associated with transporting inmates—thereby offsetting the costs associated with replacing clinicians and corrections staff
- Use an intuitive interface to create a full range of reports—Minimize the time you spend creating reports or answering informational requests, greatly enhance your understanding of your inmate population, improve your ability to proactively manage your facility, and accelerate the process of obtaining grants/funding

Reduce risk

- Meet—or exceed—industry standards—NextGen Healthcare complies with standards and guidelines from the NCCHC, ACA, and BOP
- Improve overall documentation—Streamline and automate documentation with a simple point-and-click interface to help eliminate chart fragmentation, help ensure accountability through the assignment of tasks, improve health maintenance and disease management monitoring, and ease the pressures and costs associated with litigation
- Simplify and solve transportation challenges—Gain easy integration and comprehensive move lists, which help eliminate double booking issues. Quickly and easily change lists, thereby helping to save money and reduce risk

Gain Ongoing Support from an Award-Winning Team of Industry Experts

Take advantage of on-site training and support from a team of industry experts dedicated to serving the needs of correctional health. As such, your EHR system will be more readily accepted, which accelerates productivity improvements and time to value.

The NextGen Difference

It takes more than software to produce success in a complex environment. That's why NextGen Healthcare sees a business relationship as an ongoing partnership.
